

BANDCON EARNS 20TH SLOT IN TOP 100 TELECOMMUNICATIONS COMPANIES FOR INC. 500 MAGAZINE'S LIST OF FASTEST GROWING PRIVATE COMPANIES

COSTA MESA, Calif., September 11, 2009 --BandCon, a leading internet infrastructure services provider, has ranked 20th on the Inc. 500 Magazine, 2009 List of Fastest-Growing Private Companies in the Telecommunications category, and 633rd overall. This is the second year that BandCon has attained a distinguished rank in Inc. Magazine's exclusive list.

Founded in 2000, BandCon offers a full suite of internet infrastructure services for companies with content rich web 2.0 sites such as MySpace and The Weather Channel. BandCon grew its revenues 434.7% to $20.4M in 2008 and continues to thrive as it delivers the products and services needed to support one of the fastest growing markets segments today - media rich content delivered over the internet.

"For a telecommunications company to maintain a high rank in the Inc. 500 Magazine two years in a row is quite an accomplishment," said Ari Benowitz, CEO and Co Founder. "This ranking is a testament to our entire organization as we successfully balance selling, installation and customer service. While our dedication to sales has driven our revenue growth, our commitment to timely installation and superior customer support allows us to maintain our strong presence in the telecommunications category."

In today's 2.0 world, a website must be media rich and engage a visitor in multiple ways with interactive content. The richer the site becomes, the greater the challenge for the site owner to support its growth and scalability. BandCon helps hundreds of companies solve this problem as they deliver their content to millions of visitors each month.

"BandCon's Content Delivery System™ continues to define us as a leader in the internet infrastructure space. It allows customers to expand their network, not necessarily their wallet," said COO and Co Founder Mike Flatin. "Our 'pay as you grow' pricing model is a unique and compelling differentiator in today's financial market. We are also very excited about the future as we look to add new services to our portfolio this year."

The Orange County-based company also ranked 45th amongst the Top 100 Businesses in Los Angeles-Long Beach-Santa Ana, CA.

Inc. Magazine's rankings are based on revenue growth from 2005 through 2008. To be eligible, companies must be US based, privately held and independent, with revenue of at least $200,000 in 2005 and $2 million in 2008.
